Jo desh ka jhanda nahi samal sakta, wo desh kya sambhalenge: Cong mocks BJP over tricolour falling at party HQ

The Congress today took a swipe at the BJP after the tricolour at the saffron party's headquarters fell on the ground when Amit Shah was unfurling it, questioning how they planned to manage the country when they cannot handle the national flag. The Congress posted a video on its official Twitter handle in which the BJP chief is seen unfurling the flag, which falls down soon after he pulls the string. However, he immediately caught hold of the string and pulled the flag up.

The Congress tweeted, "Those who cannot handle the flag, how will they handle the country?" "If those people who have treated the flag with contempt for over 50 years had not done so, the flag would not have been insulted like it was today," the party said. Those that give "certificates of patriotism" to people, do not know the etiquettes of the national anthem, the Congress said.

On August 15, BJP President Amit Shah, Congress President Rahul Gandhi, and RSS Chief Mohan Bhagwat unfurled the tricolour after Prime Minister Narendra Modi delivered his fifth speech at the Red Fort. Earlier, children jostled to shake hands with Prime Minister Narendra Modi as he sidestepped his security cover to greet them after his Independence Day address to the nation from the Red Fort today.

After delivering an over 80 minute speech from the ramparts of the historic monument, he waved to the crowd and moved to his motorcade for departure. But, on his way out, he halted and broke from the security cordon to enter an enclosure where children welcomed him with loud cheers. Dressed in colours of the national flag, the overwhelmed children jostled to catch a glimpse of the prime minister while those on the front rows even got an opportunity to shake hands with him. Modi had last year also moved out of his security cordon to greet children on the occasion. Shivani Pal, a class 7 student in government-run Sarvodaya Vidyalaya, was all smiles as she was among the lucky few who not only managed to shake hands with Modi but also got a chance to speak to him amid chaos. "He blessed me and asked me to study well. He also asked me to follow the motto of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas,'" she said, beaming with pride.

Remember the viral pic of Assam kid saluting tricolour in knee-deep water in 2017? He is missing from NRC list

Remember that child from Assam whose picture where he is seen saluting the flag, while in knee-deep water broke the internet last Independence Day? Of course you do. Well, it appears that his name was not in the National Register of Citizens.

"My name is not there," Haidor Ali Khan, now a Class IV student told The Telegraph. Last year, the picture had gone viral. Standing in knee-deep water, the teaching staff and two students of an Assam school are seen saluting the national flag.

The two students have been identified as Jiarul Ali Khan and Haidor Ali Khan from Class 3. "We couldn't do much due to the flooding. We sang the national anthem and Vande Mataram.

Since, small children can't be in water for long, we dispersed the assembly early,"

Mizaur Rahman, one of the teachers was quoted as saying.

On July 30, the fate of all 3.29 crore applicants was decided, with 40 lakh people's names not appearing in the list.

Feel proud of yourselves

The PM also spoke at length on how his government has tackled corruption and stopped leakage of public money. "I can never sit with eyes closed if resources are wasted without the implementation of schemes," he said. "Six crore people never existed but money went out on their names in different welfare schemes. This government has stopped that practice and saved almost Rs 90,000 crore from the exchequer that earlier went to some unscrupulous people," Modi added. He gave an example how poor people were denied their dues at ration shops and the food items instead sold in markets. "The price of wheat and rice would be Rs 24 and Rs 30-32 in open market but at ration shops, a beneficiary is entitled to get them at Rs 2 and 3. But these items were sold outside. Just imagine, by siphoning off just one kilo rice, one would earn Rs 30. We have stopped the fraud in ration shops," he said.

India will put man in space

The space agency on July 5 carried out a successful maiden pad abort test at its spaceport Sriharikota in Andhra Pradesh for the safe escape of the crew in an emergency. "The technology is very essential for our manned missions in the future," Sivan had said at an event on July 7. The critical technology is designed to quickly pull the crew module along with the astronauts to a safe distance from the launch vehicle in the event of a launch abort. "We are in the process of developing the life support system for the astronaut, space suit and other things. ISRO is doing this with the support of industries," Sivan had said. The ISRO chairman had then said that the space agency was "not close" to a human spaceflight yet. "We are not close to that. We need to work a lot towards achieving the dream of putting a man in space." According to him, the selection of astronaut to fly the spacecraft would be done by the Indian Air Force (IAF) and the spaceflight training would be given overseas. Sivan said ISRO has to set up necessary infrastructural facilities like the control centres for the proposed manned mission. He added Modi's announcement was a big kickstart and as a whole the nation's science and technology sector would benefit. So far, only the US, Russia and China have launched human space flights.

EC starts weeding out

On-line registration, a voter gets a unique ID, with which s/he can check the status of the application. The new software enables the voter to upload her/his personal details, reducing the chances of mistakes in the voter-ID card. Currently, if someone intends to get her/his name removed or added to the voter's list, it can be done only by a booth-level officer. The exercise, currently being undertaken, will prove beneficial in the upcoming state elections, besides providing a fresh database for the Lok Sabha election. According to the EC, the number of registered voters during the 2014 Lok Sabha election was 834 million, a jump of 16 per cent over the 2009 figure. The voter turnout during these polls was 66.4 per cent, an improvement over the 58.19 per cent in 2009. The EC, which had faced flak for its proposal to link Aadhaar with the election card, says this de-duplication exercise will act as a tool for cleaning old records and updating the election database. "With this software we want to send out a message that we don't want to infringe on anyone's fundamental right to vote. We only want to use Aadhaar as a de-duplication tool," the official said. After the completion of the digitisation exercise, keeping the database safe and secure will be the EC's next challenge.

Kerala, Tamil Nadu battle over

While Kerala had said the dam was dangerous and needed to be replaced by a new structure, Tamil Nadu had sought an increase in its height. The Supreme Court, which had set up a committee headed by former Chief Justice of India AS Anand to check the condition of the dam in 2010, had ruled for Tamil Nadu in its verdict in 2014, allowing the raising of its height from 136 feet to 142 feet.

Modi's healthcare scheme

New hospitals will open," he said. The scheme aims to target the poor, deprived rural families and identified an occupational category of urban workers' families, 8.03 crore in rural and 2.33 crore in urban areas, as per the latest Socio Economic Caste Census data. Observing that not many people know how big the scheme is, the prime minister said if the population of the entire United States, Canada and Mexico is put together, approximately that many people will benefit from the scheme. He said bringing poor people out of poverty and empowering them is the remedy and his government has stressed on doing that in the last four years. "None of the poor wants to continue living in poverty neither they want to die in poverty. To bring them out of this poverty and to empower them is the remedy. In the last four years, we have stressed on empowering the poor," he said. He also referred to a report of an international agency in which they it has stated that in the last two years, in India, five crore people have come out of poverty line. "When we do work to empower the poor and talk of Ayushman Bharat, what is 10 crore, what is 50 crore, not many people will know how big this scheme is. "If I put together the population of US, Canada and Mexico, approximately that many number of people are beneficiaries of Ayushman Bharat scheme. If I put together the entire population of Europe, then approximately that many beneficiaries are there in this scheme," he said. According to the official, as many as 22 states have preferred to run the scheme on 'trust model'. The Centre has allocated about Rs 10,000 crore for the project. The health ministry has launched a formal process to empanel public and private hospitals to achieve universal health coverage under the programme.
